Draft Natural Resource Damage Restoration Plan for the
Lakeland Disposal Landfill, Kosciusko County, Indiana
Natural Resource Damage Assessment Settlement

The Natural Resource Co-Trustees representing Indiana Department of Environmental Management (IDEM); Department of Interior, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS); and Indiana Department of Natural Resources invite public comments on the Draft Natural Resource Damage Restoration Plan for the Natural Resource Damage Assessment Settlement associated with the Lakeland Disposal Landfill, Claypool, Kosciusko County, Indiana. The restoration plan outlines general alternatives considered to address injuries to natural resources resulting from the discharge or release of hazardous substances during the operation of the Lakeland Disposal Landfill from 1974-1978. The Trustees have tentatively selected the alternative: Restoration of resources impacted by the site or that will serve as compensation for injured resources through acquisition, rehabilitation and protection of equivalent resources. The alternative would restore the injured resources and the services they provided by increasing the occurrence of and/or enhancing or restoring habitats that will support these services. No specific habitat restoration project or habitat acquisition has been identified at this time.
